THOMASTON SHOW

"The Prince and the Goose Girl" Was Composed By Local Writers.

The dream has come true and today standing in the center of Thomaston, is one of the finest school buildings of which any community of its size in the State can boast.

Those who have patronized the annual County Fairs and Super-Keith entertainments appreciate the results of perseverance and cooperation. Now comes something "purely Thomastonian" and the biggest thing ever attempted with the exception of the County Fair.

Working day and night for weeks past Miss Rita Smith and Miss Margaret Ruggles have planned and produced a fairy tale extravaganza, "The Prince and the Goose Girl." Miss Smith's part being that of writing the dialogue and lyrics while Miss Ruggles has composed the music. Miss Smith is not an amateur in this work, for she has received some little recognition in dramatic circles through the acceptance and production of her plays. Miss Ruggles most assuredly needs no introduction locally, for her musical ability is well known. From such a working combination something superlative is inevitable.

A fairy tale extravaganza! Do not think of princesses and princes, witches and goose girls, pirates and enchanted animals flash before one's mind? Yes, they will all be there in unique and attractive costumes made under the supervision of Mrs. Ruby Peabody, customer of County Fair fame, and Mrs. Mabel Creighton. There are 90 in the cast ranging from the principals and chorus members of the High School and upper grades to the dances and extras participated in by children from the lower grades.

Many would consider their duty to be well done with the planning and production. But not so Miss Smith and Miss Ruggles, who are personally supervising daily rehearsals of principals and chorus. Everybody will surely wish to witness one of the performances which are planned for April 21 and 22, so reserve one, if not both of those dates for "The Prince and the Goose Girl."

Flogging On Shipboard

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—
At the risk of being thought to criticize, I am going to allude to a paragraph in this department of March 25, the inquiry by L. E. Fogg of South Thomaston. I well recall the case of the shipmaster. I was a boy in Thomaston at the time and I think Mr. Fogg is correct, except in the name of the captain, which was Holmes, and his victim's name was Chadwick. They both belonged in Portland or Yarmouth, or thereabouts.

The captain, who was crazy drunk most of the time, took a dislike to Chadwick and ordered the mates to flog him. This was not very unusual in those times, but after repeated flogging, and being revived by applying salt pickle to the man's wounds, the mates refused to do any more flogging. The captain went to his cabin and returning on deck with a pistol in each hand, under threat of being shot the mates repeated the flogging until the victim was beaten to death. To disobey a captain's orders was mutiny at that time and a very serious offense. In court the captain's word was taken to the exclusion of any other testimony, so the action of the mates was not so much to be wondered at. I can not recall the name of the ship, which is what Mr. Fogg wanted to know.

After being released from prison the captain fled to France and as far as I know never came back. Thomaston was a town of seafaring men and their families, and the excitement ran high when it became known that Holmes had been pardoned, for if it had been known, he would have fared hard and been lucky to escape the fate of Capt. Floyd Ireson of old Marblehead.

John Morrison.
258 Broadway, Methuen, Mass.

Mr. Philbrick filed the following as the answer to his 24 foot stick of timber problem, printed March 25:

The Feminine Gender

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—
Once upon a time I heard of a know-it-all sort of a boy in school who was always ready with an answer whether he knew anything about the subject under discussion or not, therefore when the teacher one morning asked the class, "What is an apian?" he hesitated not an instant but answered confidently, "An apian is a place where they raise apes!"
Now I could do better than that myself, and yet there are certain words and suffixes which seem to belong together in my mind as closely as did apes and apian in the mind of that boy.

For instance: I know that prophetic is the feminine of prophet, tailoress the feminine of tailor and actress the feminine of actor; therefore, fortress would seem to be feminine of fort. I have read many times of forts and fortresses and one of my first questions in the "Wanterknow Column" related to this matter but no one has as yet seen fit to answer. I can readily comprehend gender as exemplified by the rules of English grammar, but I must confess that the idea of a male and a female fort gets my buttress—which word, reasoning from analogy, is the obvious feminine of our old friend "Butter the Goat."

Will some one rise and explain what a female fort is, and how it got that way?
Adella F. Veazie.

BLIZZARD, FIRE AND WHAT NOT?

Alarm From 46 Tuesday Night Started Chain of Exciting Events On Main Street.

All the thrills of a big time, first-run moving picture were on tap Tuesday night when box 46 rang in for a staving hot fire in the big Rankin house, corner of Main and Rankin streets. The old house was gutted and neighboring property endangered; the occupants escaped with difficulty; and Chief Havener had a hairbreadth escape from death in a bad auto smash enroute to the fire.

Here is the story reel by reel. A light fall of snow beginning about 9 o'clock developed, with a powerful wind, into unpleasant proportions by 10 o'clock when the alarm sent the two chemicals snorting up Main street toward the Northend, already alight with flame. Behind them came the city's venerable patrol wagon with officer John Post in charge. Chief Havener was approaching from the Southend in his fast roadster, and accelerated after slowing for the Spring street turn, only to have the preceding machine cut in.

The chief's alternative was to run down the lighter car or put his own in danger. He chose the latter course and the big car went over the curb, crashed into the Burpee & Lamb store, splintering the plate glass window and smashing the wooden sign; thence plunging head-on into the Daniels street clock with a crash heard for blocks. The chief scrambled clear and without a glance at his wrecked machine, boarded the unseathed patrol wagon and roared off to the fire before the astonished spectators could ask the extent of his injuries.

The Rankin house, a big, old rambling two-story and half structure, with two long eels attached was a mass of flame in the upper section. Half of it has been long unoccupied, but a portion was tenanted by Mr. and Mrs. Albert P. Tribou who lost all their effects, valued at $600. Simeon Duncan had a paper hanging shop in one of the eels and suffered considerable damage, estimated at $300.

The fire was exceedingly spectacular with huge volumes of smoke and flame driven by the strong wind. The district is thickly settled and the majority of the houses are of wooden construction but the blanket of snow prevented trouble from the showers of burning brands. The universal opinion was that the fire was very well handled and that the department could be credited with a good stop. Five lines of hose were used. Damage to the building might be set at $2500.

The Rankin house was owned by E. K. Spear and E. C. Walker and is undoubtedly beyond repair. Mr. Spear was insured with Maynard S. Bird & Co. as were the Tribous and Mr. Duncan, though none to the full extent of their loss. Clayton E. Gilley, proprietor of the Trainer Northend Bakery whose plant is connected with the damaged structure, showed his appreciation by providing the firemen with hot coffee and doughnuts.

Interviewed by a Courier-Gazette reporter today, Chief Havener laughingly disclaimed any heroic element in the evening's activities and said that he suffered no ill effects except a bruised ankle and sore ribs. "I had to get to that fire," he said, "the lost mugs, headlight, front springs and considerable paint."

Plans are crystallizing for the series of meetings which will be held in this city week after next under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, and with the co-operation of the Retail Merchants' Institute of Chicago.

SEEKS ENDOWMENT

The Rockland Home For Aged Women Needs a Fund of $50,000.

In October, 1900, the Home for Aged Women in Rockland, Maine, was opened with a great deal of faith and a small amount of money. During these 24 years, both faith and funds have slowly increased, although the gain in the latter has not kept pace with the former.

The institution is unsectarian and open to women over 60 years of age (who have for five years been residents of Rockland) or having an entrance fee of $100. We are now caring for five women, the largest number which has ever been received at one time. We have an excellent matron; the interior of the house is in good condition; all bills are paid and the members of the Home family seem contented and happy in the thought that they are here to receive love and care in the years which remain to them.

In spite of these very gratifying conditions, we are still in need of money for several purposes and the especial object to which we would call your attention is the Endowment Fund. This at present amounts to $13,300, twenty-five hundred of which has been contributed during the present year. The interest of this amount at 5 per cent will hardly feed a family of six at the present time, to say nothing of fuel, lights, repairs and all the other expenses incidental to every home.

We are now endeavoring to increase this fund to $50,000. If we can do this, we shall be able to enlarge our accommodations, receive more inmates and shall then have an assured income, which will relieve us from the necessity of periodical "drives" and enable us to meet our current expenses, without the anxiety which we now feel, lest the available funds be insufficient to meet these demands.

We are therefore appealing to former residents of Rockland and friends, who have the interests of our city at heart, for help in raising this amount of money. We shall apply any sum of $100 or over to the endowment fund, while any amount under $100 will be applied to the contingent fund. We sincerely hope, however, that a large number of our friends may be impressed with the necessity of putting this worthy philanthropy on a permanent basis and that they may wish to contribute to the endowment fund, either in their own names, or in memory of some friend who was formerly interested in the cause.

Paul D. Sargent of Augusta, Chief Engineer of the Maine Highway Commission, speaker at the Woman's Educational Club meeting Friday night, was highly complimented by State Librarian Henry E. Dunnack, when he was in the city recently to address this club. He thinks Mr. Sargent not only the best engineer in the country and an expert of first rank whom other States try to get away from our State, but remarkable also as a man, a cultured gentleman and a speaker. Mr. Dunnack urged that guests also be admitted to hear him as well as club members, and that privilege was voted by the club. Each member invites three guests.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

If I had to live my life again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness.—Charles Darwin.

THE BURIAL OF SIR JOHN MOOR
Not a drum was heard, not a funeral note,
As his corse to the rampart we hurried;
Not a soldier discharged his farewell shot
O'er the grave where our hero we buried.

We buried him dearly at dead of night,
The sods with our bayonets turning;
By the struggling moonbeam's misty light
And the lantern dimly burning.

No useless coffin enclosed his breast,
Not in sheet, or in shroud we wound him;
But he lay like a warrior taking his rest,
With his martial cloak around him.

Few and short were the prayers we said,
And we spoke not a word of sorrow;
But we steadfastly gazed on the face that was dead,
And we bitterly thought of the morrow.

We thought, as we hollow'd his narrow bed
And smooth'd down his lonely pillow,
That the foe and the stranger would tread o'er
His head,
And we far away on the blow!

Lighly they'll talk of the spirit that's gone,
And o'er his cold ashes upbraid him—
But little he'll reck, if they let him sleep in
In the grave where a Briton has laid him.

But half of our heavy task was done
When the clock struck the hour for retiring;
And we heard the distant and random gun
That the foe was sullenly firing.

Slowly and sadly we laid him down,
From the field of his fame fresh and gory;
We carved not a line, and we raised not a stone,
But we left him alone with his glory.

—Charles Wolfe (1791-1823)

SONS OF GOD:—For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God.—Romans 8:14.

"KEEP COOLIDGE"

When the National Liberty League wrote to Gov. Baxter and asked him to endorse a program—first, for the repeal or modification of the Volstead act, and promote the sale of light wines and beers; secondly, for the abolishment of the present restrictions placed on physicians in prescribing liquor; and thirdly, against passing any more prohibition laws—it found itself, in the parlance of the street, in the wrong church, the wrong pew and the wrong stall. Gov. Baxter's reply was very prompt, but it is doubtful if the contents of his letter were very pleasing to the National Liberty League. "Instead of repealing or modifying the Volstead act," said he, "I would make it even stronger than it is today, and I never would permit the manufacture and sale of light wines and beers." Gov. Baxter also expressed the opinion that the prohibition laws have done more to build up the manhood and womanhood of the country, and to reduce crime, than all the other laws combined. "The name you have adopted for your organization, the National Liberty League, is a misnomer," said the governor in conclusion. "It would better be called the National Liquor League." There's a certain amount of directness about Gov. Baxter's statements, even his opponents will concede.

It may have been Maine's custom not to instruct its delegates to the national conventions, and there may have been instances where this was wise, but The Courier-Gazette has its opinion of today's State convention if it fails to endorse the splendid New Englander who now occupies the Presidential chair, and seeks nomination at the hands of the Cleveland convention. If there was ever a time to go on record now is that time. Don't let the impression go out that Maine's delegates are "understood" to be for Coolidge; tell the whole world that they "are" for Coolidge.

President Coolidge's summer home will be in Washington, D. C. While others are enjoying the cooling breezes of the seashore or relaxing on the golf links the silent President will remain on the job. The country will sympathize with his self sacrifice, but will applaud his decision. The present conditions at the National Capital show the necessity of eternal vigilance.

Many foreigners get a wrong impression of the United States. But there are evidently many more who are content to make it their mecca. Of the 126,118 persons who emigrated to this country last year, through the Hamburg gateway, $2,400 were bound for the United States.

HOPES SOON TO SEE IT

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—
The Saturday issue of your paper interests me with its account of removal to your new home. Congratulations upon the acquisition of such splendid quarters, which your whole staff must thoroughly appreciate and enjoy. That you may long continue to serve the people of Rockland and vicinity in such congenial surroundings is the wish of one who has often deplored the rather limited facilities of the old sanctum. I shall certainly be pleased to visit the "new home" and note its conveniences and beauty. It is getting quite springlike here in Massachusetts and I will be returning soon to Rockland. I am sending this souvenir copy of your paper to California.
Elizabeth Marsh.
Revere, Mass., March 21.

SENDS HIS CONGRATULATIONS

To My Old Friends:—
On the occasion of your advent to new and finer quarters, may one who as a carrier boy sat beside Bert Lord while he laboriously addressed the papers by footpower, and then covered my carrier route on the hot Tuesday afternoons in summer, for which I received the whole sum of twenty-five cents (can you get it done for that now?); who was in at the birth and demise of the Daily Sun, in later years an occasional correspondent, and to whom the old stand remained as the one familiar spot in the old home town to which his footsteps turned on all too infrequent visits—join in the chorus of congratulation upon this evidence of continued and well-deserved prosperity.
T. Raymond Pierce.
Boston, March 31, 1924.

ADDS HER GOOD WISHES

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—
Wasn't the first page of your new building souvenir edition fine! Every item of it! The autobiographies were of unusual interest, as well as the history and description of the new quarters, including the pen and ink sketch by Miss Esther B. Bird. I am glad the weather man vouchsafed a good day for visitors. I feel that sincere congratulations will not be amiss, and am hoping that the good old paper, with its worthy force of workers, with its many years more of prosperity.

As easy wear, and Easier to Buy

At the new reduced prices for the Spring Season the Cantilever Shoe has the same comfort and quality that have made it so easy and so pleasurable to wear. The lower cost will make it easier to buy.

The Cantilever Shoe has many practical uses. For walking, it is supreme. For strengthening weak arches, it is recommended by doctors because of its flexibility. For duty, it helps one to accomplish more with less fatigue. For dress it gives that neat and stylish appearance which every woman wants.

Each purpose of the Cantilever Shoe, each of its rather exceptional qualities, has a reason for being. If you will come to our store, we will demonstrate and explain these points very gladly. There is no obligation to purchase, but should you be ready to buy a new pair of spring shoes, we will fit you conscientiously. Quality and service considered, the lower prices result in Cantilevers being as economical as they always have been comfortable.

SUCCEEDS DAUGHTERY

Harlan Fiske Stone of New York has been elected by President Coolidge as attorney general. Since his retirement as Dean of Columbia Law School, Mr. Stone has been associated with the New York firm of Carter, Ledyard & Stone. He is a native of New Hampshire and graduate of Amherst. He is 51 years old.

THE POLITICAL WORD

Coolidge leaders say that more than enough delegates are in sight to clinch the President's nomination. The nominee must get 555 votes. In addition to the 255 already pledged, the President is virtually assured of 319 delegates from Connecticut, Delaware, Maine, Massachusetts, Alabama, New Jersey, New York, West Virginia, Washington, Vermont, and Rhode Island. This list does not include such States as Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Michigan and Texas, a substantial majority of whose delegates the President seems certain of capturing.

Coolidge is gaining by leaps and bounds in California, and his managers say he is assured of strong delegate support in Johnson's State.

A Convention Forecast

Formal endorsement of Coolidge for President by the Republican State convention today in Portland is expected. If that is not done the delegates selected to the National Republican convention at Cleveland will meet immediately, following the close of the convention session and vote to stand solidly for Coolidge. Such is the plan outlined by Republican State leaders.

Four planks are under consideration by members of the committee upon the school appropriation question. The enforcement plan will declare for the Volstead act in its present form and pledge all State officials to do their utmost to co-operate with the Federal authorities in rigid enforcement.

The highway plank will pledge the State to the continuation of its trunk line highway policy augmented by a generous appropriation for farm to market roads, the funds to be raised either by bond issue or direct taxation.

While some opposition has developed regarding the primary law amendment declaration, the opinion was expressed that the original declaration would stand.

COUNTY CANDIDATES

Primary nomination papers have been filed by the following Knox County candidates:

Milton M. Griffin of Rockland, Republican, for clerk of courts of Knox County.

Zelma M. Dwinall of Camden, for representative on the Republican ticket from Camden, Hope and Appleton.

After a long period of speculation as to who might be a candidate for the Rockland representative nomination on the Republican ticket two aspirants suddenly appeared in the field yesterday. One is Rodney L. Thompson, who has served the city as mayor and the county as State Senator. The other is Glenn A. Lawrence of the Lawrence Canning Co., who has never held a political position. Both are earnest advocates of the Kennebec Bridge, and wish to go to Augusta in order that they may work personally for that much deserved project.

Attempts to "smoke out" Aubrey S. Heal of Camden on the sheriff matter have flatly failed thus far. His friends do not believe he will leave his present remunerative position in the uncertain quest of a comparatively low-salaried job, but Mr. Heal is the man to decide.

Those small ads in The Courier-Gazette are read by every body. That is why they are so popular and effective.

EASTER

April is an interesting month historically. Shakespeare was born April 23rd, 1564.

The first newspaper was printed April 24th, 1704.

General Grant was born April 27th, 1822.

April 30th, 1803, the United States paid fifteen million dollars for the Louisiana purchase to France.

And another important point about April, this year Easter comes on the 20th.

And another interesting fact is, you will find here the most satisfactory styles a man can wear for this season, hats, suits, Spring topcoats, collars, cravats, shirts, handkerchiefs, gloves, socks.

Everything correct in style, right in quality and fair in price.

For example here is a fine 4-piece blue serge suit, hand tailored, at $39.50, and it's the suit that no man will regret buying.

In the Tuesday night gale a large section of one of N. B. Cobb's maple trees broke off, narrowly missing the glass entrance porch of his Main street home in its fall.

Another well known Grand Army man died yesterday in the person of James J. Roberts, a former resident of Winter Harbor. The funeral services will be held at his late residence, 10 Granite street, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the Masons will conduct their ritual service.

Delay in the arrival of some necessary materials has postponed the temporary closing of Strand Theatre until one week from the coming Saturday night. Manager Dondis has some good special productions for next week, Monday and Tuesday, "The Man From Glengarry" (Ralph Connor's famous story); Wednesday and Thursday, "The Midnight Alarm"; Friday and Saturday, "The Shadow of Lightning Ridge" and Harold Lloyd in "Number Please."

The Augusta Boys' Conference, under the direction of the State Y. M. C. A. is spoken of as one of the great successes ever scored by this great organization. The Knox County delegation was in charge of Camden's popular Y. M. C. A. secretary, John Taylor, who had 10 boys from his own town. There were four boys from the First Baptist church of Rockland—Roland Allen, Francis Merchant, Foster Fifield and Donald Haskell—who will relate their impressions of the conference, at the church midweek service next Tuesday.

All records for Atlantic Coast motor travel are said to have been "busted" yesterday, when S. Nilo Spear of this city arrived in Portland after covering approximately 200 miles since leaving Coconut Grove, Fla. on the preceding Thursday at 9 a. m. His Ford coupe behaved equally well whether flying over smooth roads or submerging in the clay surface of country roads which have never known a highway architect's skill. All the way from Florida to Rockland the roads are still lined with anxious people, wondering what meant the speedy progress of the demon rider. Had they been told that it was "Nemo" the plot would merely have thickened as far as they were concerned.

The Phi Gamma Delta fraternity house at the University of Maine, was burned Tuesday night, while most of the students were home on a vacation. The property loss was $25,000. Among the Rockland graduates who had an investment in that fraternity house was B. C. Perry, Jr.

Harold Doten, formerly in the government employ on the Maine coast, with Rockland as his headquarters, is now located, with his family, at Virginia Beach, Va. In a note to R. H. Angell yesterday he told of nice spring-like weather and of being comfortably located.

HOW'S THE WEATHER?

Just a trifle tart we must confess. Following the Tuesday night blizzard the temperature was 22 above, and this morning found it 22, with the bluest ceiling that one ever gazed upon. Diminishing winds, and warmer, is the day's promise.—The Weather Man.

The annual meeting of the Camden & Rockland Water Co., was held at the company's new offices Thursday when these officers were elected: President, William T. Cobb; vice president, Alan L. Bird; clerk and treasurer, A. F. McAlary; directors, W. T. Cobb, Alan L. Bird, Mrs. C. H. Berry, A. S. Black, Richard O. Elliot, C. M. Kallioh, A. B. Packard and Vernon F. West. The annual reports showed a very satisfactory year. Three of the four apartments over the company's new offices have been let, and one is already occupied by Lawrence Perry, Dr. A. K. P. Harvey has taken apartments on the second floor and the Red Cross nurses, Miss Louise Sawyer and Miss Alma Hertsgaard will have apartments on the third floor.

The American Legion Auxiliary will have another one of their famous suppers at their hall, Limerock street, Saturday evening from 5 to 7. Price 55 cents. The public is cordially invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clay of Bangor have been visitors in the city this week.

On his return from Boston recently Orel E. Davies brought a modern optical chair to match the optical gray trimmings, with which his optical department has lately been adorned.

The advance sale of tickets for "Bimbo," the High School play, will take place from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. Friday and Saturday. The weather indications point to a rousing big sale.

City Clerk Keene has received the city's supply of dog tags. Those who have already paid the license fee can obtain them from Mr. Keene, and others will be issued as fast as the licenses are taken out.

City schools suspended and the island boat omitted her trip yesterday because of the storm. The Boston boat remained at anchor in the harbor until late afternoon when clearing weather and declining seas permitted her departure.

Enlight Sir Thomas F. McDonald, grand generalissimo of the Grand Commandery, makes official inspection of Claremont Commandery Monday night. There will be a banquet at 6.30 and work on the order of the Temple in the evening.

There are a number of persons in Knox county who send mail to Russia who will be interested in the announcement by Russian postal authorities that all mail-matter intended for Petrograd after May 1 must be addressed to Leningrad or it will be refused delivery by government order.

Donald Whitney, deliveryman for the American Railway Express Co. in this city, is receiving congratulations on his rounds, because of his appointment as chief engineer of the Thomas-ton Fire Department. The deputy fire wardens will look after the old town's safety in the daytime, while Chief Whitney is in Rockland, but if there's any threatening fire it is safe to say that Don will streak in across lots, helmet in one hand and trumpet in the other.

The New York Yacht Club is going to include Rockland, Me. in its plans this summer. According to the itinerary, the fleet will rendezvous at Newport the first week in August. After the races for the Astor Cups and a run to Mattapoisett, the fleet will proceed through the Cape Cod Canal. From the eastern entrance there will be a long run of 143 miles to Rockland, with the cruise continuing along the Maine coast to Bar Harbor where the King's Cup race is scheduled.

Patrons of Park Theatre are impressed by the attractiveness of the new picture set which has been installed there within a few days. A picture set, be it explained, is in reality the environments of the screen onto which the pictures are projected. The colors in this instance one of a greenish and bluish cast, and the decorations represent the work of a trained scenic artist. A grand drapery covers the proscenium, a bluish tinge has been added to the screen itself, giving a clearer and softer picture.

Charles A. Robinson, a former clerk at A. Ross Weeks' grocery store, who is now secretary of the board of trustees of the New York Life Insurance Co., writes to William A. Hill, agent for this district, that plans are already well underway for the new home office building which is to be erected on the site of Madison Square Garden. The company has owned this famous property for years. Some idea of the importance of this insurance concern may be gained from the fact that it already has upward of 2400 employees.

Westbrook High basketball girls have defeated Morse High of Bath twice but by narrow margins, and on the strength of this and other victories lay claim to State champ laurels. If Rockland High gives Morse the drubbing that the fans expect Saturday afternoon, where will Westbrook's strength be? The first Morse game was played by a crippled Rockland outfit more as a matter of accommodation than judgment. R. H. S. had no trouble in mauling Westbrook last year. Girards and all, and the loyal rooters believe Coach Sullivan's crew could repeat this year.

Elmer S. Bird, who is now one of New England's best known pigeon fanciers, finds additional interest in the game with the arrival of a pair of Schiatti Argent Modeans, which were shipped to him by Hon. W. F. Holmes of "The Thatched House," Hampton Wick, Middlesex, Eng. The word Argent is from the coat of arms emblazoned with silver, and these pigeons consequently have silver plumage on their black bodies. Mr. Bird now has 30 pigeons, which he expects to multiply to 100 or 125 during the breeding season which has just begun, and which lasts until the first of August. Two dozen of these birds will be kept in training for the fall shows at Brockton, Newark, Boston and Chicago.

When The Courier-Gazette's Weather Man boasted Tuesday morning that this locality had escaped the Western blizzards he forgot to rap on wood. During the day the wind swung around to the northeast, and as night came on developed into a piping gale, on the wings of which were borne almost as much snow as this city had seen in the entire month of March. Merchants who came down to their places of business on the eastern side of Main street yesterday morning found formidable drifts, and the man who put on screen doors two weeks ago was scurrying around the neighborhood trying to borrow a snow shovel. It was a charming little April Fool joke, and all the more successful because it came in the dying hours of the day, when folks had begun to look for bandaged bricks and empty pocket-books. The storm also had the effect of setting oldtimers to talking about that April 2d blizzard of 30-odd years ago. Tuesday night's show was pretty tame compared with that, but everybody will forgive the discrepancy. The bad man had one satisfaction yesterday. The dust wasn't blowing in his eye.

BIRD A DELEGATE

The Republican State Convention in Portland was in progress as this paper went to press. The morning lineup indicates that Arthur G. Staples of Lewiston would be a delegate at large from the Second District to the Cleveland National Convention and that Elmer S. Bird and Daniel Fields will be the district delegates. Phineas T. Gray of Newcasttle will be one of the six Presidential electors. Indications pointed to Col. E. A. Robbins, publisher of the Camden Herald as State committeeman from Knox county.

FOR A COMMUNITY CHEST

George B. Wood, chairman of Salvation Army board of directors; H. B. Bird, chairman Home for Aged Women; G. H. Blithen, chairman Children's Playground; A. W. Gregory, chairman American Red Cross, met at Chamber of Commerce rooms yesterday afternoon to talk over the advisability of establishing a Community Chest in Rockland. Plans were made to hold a large meeting of the workers in these various organizations for the near future at which time the Chest will be organized, officers elected and date set for the drive.

The purpose of a Community Chest is the elimination of a multitude of drives by combining the needs of the charitable institutions of any community into a single drive. Another advantage is that a great saving is made in printing, administration, etc. If a Community Chest is established here this spring, Rockland will enjoy the distinction of being the first city in Maine to adopt this progressive institution.

Tuesday night's gale wrought havoc in the harbor with many boats dragging their anchors. The new 35-foot lobster smack owned by Oliver Wiggins launched within the fortnight by the Gamages, and but recently equipped with her engine, dragged ashore between the Atlantic and Maine Central wharves and pounded herself into a total loss. Another fishing boat, said to be the property of Herbert A. Sprowl, went on to the Ingraham Hill beach and was still there at a late hour last night.

The new balcony which will be installed at the Strand Theatre as soon as the materials arrive, will have a seating capacity of about 350. Some seats will be lost to the auditorium through the construction of the new stage, but the total seating capacity will be close to 900. The stage will be equipped with the very latest scenery and protection will be assured by asbestos curtains and fire resisting walls, complying with the State laws. New lighting fixtures will also be installed. A night crew will be employed on the construction as well as a day crew so as to speed the work as rapidly as possible.

The Howard Cigar Co., formerly a well known business establishment on Main street, celebrated its silver anniversary in Bath Tuesday. The Times said: "Twenty-five years ago today or to be exact on April 1, 1899, the Howard Cigar Co., commenced doing business in Bath and today ex-Alderman D. L. Howard, the proprietor, is celebrating the event and has received many congratulations for the able and business like manner in which he has conducted the affairs of this well known concern. When the Howard Cigar Co., first opened for business D. L. Howard was associated with his father, the late Henry E. Howard, whose death occurred 14 years ago. The firm has been noted for its courtesy and fair dealing and these have been contributing factors for its large retail and wholesale business. That it may continue for many more years is the wish of its hundreds of well wishing and satisfied customers." Rockland friends add their congratulations to those which Bath folk are showering upon "Len."

ROCKLAND DEBATEES

Getting Ready For the Bates League Contest April 11 and 12.

The winning team of the Inter-scholastic Bates League debates will be decided Saturday morning, April 12, when the finals will be held on the Bates College campus, under the auspices of the Bates Debating Council.

On Friday night the semi-finals will be held in which the following preparatory schools will take part: Edward Little, Jordan High, Lisbon Falls, Deering, Rockland, Livermore Falls, Anson Academy, Foxcroft Academy, Houlton High and Maine Central Institute, Pittsfield. These schools have each won two debates and are thus eligible for the semi-final contests.

There will be 10 debates Friday evening, April 11—two triangles and one quadrangle. The question will be the same used throughout the League contests: Resolved that the United States Should Join the League of Nations. Saturday morning, April 12, the winners of the semi-final debates will contend for the Inter-scholastic trophy cup which has been won the past two years by Deering High School.

One Rockland High team, consisting of Herbert Leroy Prescott '25 and Wilbur Merrill Frohock '26, will uphold the affirmative side of the case. The other Rockland High team, consisting of Kenneth Haveron Cassens '24 and Abraham Fein '25, with Alden Thayer Kimball, '27 as alternate, will debate on the negative side of the case.

The teams are being coached by E. C. Moran, Jr., former captain of the Bowdoin debating team, and are certain to give a good account of themselves.

DOWN GOES MILK

Turner Center Announces Reduction.—Retail Price For April is 10 Cents.

Reduction in the retail price of milk to 10 cents a quart and to 9½ cents a quart by the coupon system was announced Tuesday from the executive offices of the Turner Center System, Auburn.

The wholesale price is correspondingly reduced and the price to the producer for April is six cents a quart.

The announcement from the Salem committee of the New England Milk Producers Association from Boston was:

The sales committee of the New England Milk Producers' Association announce a reduction of one-half cent per quart for April in the price of milk, bringing it to six cents a quart delivered in Boston. This is the fourth consecutive month in which the association has announced reductions, the price having fallen from 9½ cents in December to six cents April 1.

In a statement accompanying the announcement the committee said the present action was forced by the refusal of a large co-operative system in Maine to pay the 6½ cent price in force during March.

STUDEBAKER LIGHT-SIX TOURING CAR

Mark This Example of what Studebaker alone can do

STUDEBAKER is the world's largest maker of quality cars. Our assets are $90,000,000. We have $50,000,000 in model plants.

Our sales have almost trebled in three years, because of our matchless values. Last year, 145,167 people paid $201,000,000 for Studebaker cars.

Come and learn why

Come and see, before you buy a car, the reasons for this success. See this Light-Six Touring Car, for instance.

Built of the finest steels. Of the very same steels we use in the costliest of our cars. On some we pay makers 15% premium to get just the quality specified.

Built under an engineering department which costs us $500,000 yearly.

Each car subjected in the building to 32,000 separate inspections. Same steels, same workmanship as in the costliest Studebaker models.

Two great features

There are many features in this Light-Six found in no rival car. But we want to mention two in particular.

The motor is perfectly balanced. That means long life and freedom from vibration.

The reason is this: We machine all surfaces of our crankshafts and connecting rods by 61 operations. Just as was done in Liberty Airplane Motors. This is done in no other car at our prices. Then we use more Timken bearings in this car than are used in any competitive car within $1,500 of our price. And Timken bearings take up wear as no other bearings do.

Why this price?

This Light-Six Touring Car is priced at $1,045. Built under ordinary conditions such a car would cost you from $200 to $400 more.

But we build 150,000 cars per year. We make our own parts. We build our own bodies in $10,000,000 body plants. We have 12,500 up-to-date machines. Our major costs are divided by enormous output.

The result is a value no other maker even tries to match in a fine car of this size. Come see what it means to you.

Send for the Book

Mail us the coupon below. We will send you free our new book that will inform you on five simple things which reveal the value of a car. For instance—

It will enable you to look at any car and tell whether it's been cheapened to meet a price or offers true quality.

It will tell you why some cars rattle at 20,000 miles and others don't. It shows one single point in a closed car which measures whether you're getting top or medium quality. The book is free. Clip the coupon now.

How It Excels

Steels are identical with the steels in the costliest car we make.

More Timken bearings than in any competitive car within $1,500 of its price.

All-steel body.

One-piece windshield—rainproof.

Attractive cowl lights.

Quick-action cowl ventilator.

Non-skid cord tires.

Transmission and ignition locks.

Perfect motor balance.

The supreme car of its class.

Capt. Kidd has returned to the columns of The Courier-Gazette. Probably some readers think of him as a myth, but the writer has good authority for stating that Capt. Kidd was a bold buccaner. Mr. Trask was then part of a boy and at the first opportunity effected his escape. The incident was related to Mrs. Brown by an uncle, Jonathan Trask who visited her when he was 50 years old.

An omission from Tuesday's issue was that when in Portland on their return from Boston Mrs. H. B. Shaw and Miss Frances Shaw were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Shaw. They were delightfully entertained.

AS GOOD AS EVER

That's What John Willard Says About John R. Braden—Hot Season Ahead.

The Frederick Gleaner has the following gossip about a trotter well known to many Knox county turf fans:

John Willard, the veteran horseman of Presque Isle, is spending a few days in Fredrickton, having brought the young trotter in his stable owned by Hugh O'Neill back to their home town so that the bond under which they are permitted to enter the United States for training purposes may be renewed.

"Capt. O'Neill, 2:19 1/4, which in his four-year-old form last year was unbeaten from the time it was decided to let him go on until his last race and for one of the trotting sensations of the Maine and New Brunswick Circuit, is one of the pair, and the other is Knight of Columbus, another son of Capt. Aubrey, 2:07 1/4, which is now four years old and is the double of the famous Bill Sharen, 2:04 1/4, in appearance and gait.

"The Willard stable at the present time consists of eight members and is located at the Presque Isle track, where the top-liner of the outfit is John R. Braden, 2:02 1/4, which had his best season last year. Mr. Willard is convinced that the "little iron horse of Tennessee" will be as formidable as ever this year, but says that throughout the season there is renewed interest in the free for alls and a growing impression that this year's racing battles will furnish better contests than ever, especially with the prospect of the appearance of one or two new fast record pacers."

LISTEN, GIRLS!

Here's An Authority Who Says Bobbed Hair Causes Bald Heads.

Bobbed hair is a sure means for causing baldness, and so it won't be many years before the world is filled with bald-headed women, said Joseph Byrne, editor of a beauty magazine, in addressing the annual convention of the American Master Hairdressers' Association.

Milliners, he explained, in order to conform to present day hair style, have been obliged to make head bands exceedingly tight to keep the hats on, resulting in the death of the hair. Mr. Byrne asserted that girls of the present generation would be bald before they reach maturity.

Charles Nestle, vice president of the association, characterized the bobbing of hair as the "greatest misfortune to come to women in recent years."

On the other hand, Mrs. S. T. Burgess, of Madison, Wis., who said she had been studying beauty culture 35 years, expressed the opinion that bobbing of hair was the greatest benefit the modern woman enjoys.

We are proud of the fact that we are a self-governing people, but as only about 49 per cent of the qualified voters voted at the national election in 1920, are we really governing ourselves? A goodly portion of those votes cast were by people with political aspirations in case their party was in office, or else they were voting directly for some friend, and when we take these from the total, it would appear that only a small portion of the independent vote, or the disinterested vote, was in evidence. Some of us do not know what our politics is, and being too busy to find out for ourselves, adopt the politics of our father, brother, husband, or perhaps wife, and rest content. We wouldn't trust them to buy our best gowns or neckties for us, but we swallow their politics without a murmur.

A person who knows why he is a Republican and why he is a Democrat, and can give a clear idea of his reasons for being so, is an asset to his country. To carry out our form of government satisfactorily each must be willing to assume the burden of thinking for himself, and stand for what he believes is right.

Our most important duty as citizens of this Republic is to make use of our invaluable privilege of the vote. Do not forget that the privilege, which means so little to some of us at the present day, was bought and paid for by our forefathers with years of suffering and bloodshed.

Do we as citizens have any right to criticize our government, when we refuse to assume our own duty as voters? We are indebted to the professional politicians for keeping things running for us, while we do the grumbling—for if it were not for some of us, being willing to assume the duties of public office, where would our government be?

The four men who took the leading part in the drafting of that wonderful article, the Constitution—Madison, Hamilton, Washington and Franklin—well as its signers and sponsors were not politicians in the sense of the word as we know and have come to regard it, but statesmen, actuated by the high purpose of unselfish loyalty and love for their country. The idea of a free sovereign government by a free self-governing people was sacred to them.

Today we are still living in and enjoying the fruits of their efforts. Their unselfish loyalty and protection has permeated the ages and infused into us individually the duties of citizenship, and let ourselves be actuated as they were by the desire of serving our country as citizens, and not the idea of just making it a place to live, their influence cannot always be expected to protect us against ourselves.

Our laws are of no avail on our statute books, without real men to enforce them.

And remember that when you are giving your undivided time to your social affairs, and the business of making dollars, that the dollar sign means U. S. What would a dollar be worth without the wealth of the United States behind it? What would the wealth of the United States be worth without our laws to protect it? And finally, what would our laws be worth without men to enforce them? And the quality of those men depends upon each one of us individually.

POLITICAL DUTY

Unless We Discharge Our Responsibilities The Whole Community Suffers.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

Why don't people take more real interest in politics? We are supposed to have a government by the people, of the people, for the people, but do we? Unless we wake up and shoulder our responsibilities as qualified voters of these United States, we shall be in danger of becoming a government of the politicians, by the politicians, for the politicians.

We are proud of the fact that we are a self-governing people, but as only about 49 per cent of the qualified voters voted at the national election in 1920, are we really governing ourselves? A goodly portion of those votes cast were by people with political aspirations in case their party was in office, or else they were voting directly for some friend, and when we take these from the total, it would appear that only a small portion of the independent vote, or the disinterested vote, was in evidence. Some of us do not know what our politics is, and being too busy to find out for ourselves, adopt the politics of our father, brother, husband, or perhaps wife, and rest content. We wouldn't trust them to buy our best gowns or neckties for us, but we swallow their politics without a murmur.

A person who knows why he is a Republican and why he is a Democrat, and can give a clear idea of his reasons for being so, is an asset to his country. To carry out our form of government satisfactorily each must be willing to assume the burden of thinking for himself, and stand for what he believes is right.

Our most important duty as citizens of this Republic is to make use of our invaluable privilege of the vote. Do not forget that the privilege, which means so little to some of us at the present day, was bought and paid for by our forefathers with years of suffering and bloodshed.

Do we as citizens have any right to criticize our government, when we refuse to assume our own duty as voters? We are indebted to the professional politicians for keeping things running for us, while we do the grumbling—for if it were not for some of us, being willing to assume the duties of public office, where would our government be?

The four men who took the leading part in the drafting of that wonderful article, the Constitution—Madison, Hamilton, Washington and Franklin—well as its signers and sponsors were not politicians in the sense of the word as we know and have come to regard it, but statesmen, actuated by the high purpose of unselfish loyalty and love for their country. The idea of a free sovereign government by a free self-governing people was sacred to them.

Today we are still living in and enjoying the fruits of their efforts. Their unselfish loyalty and protection has permeated the ages and infused into us individually the duties of citizenship, and let ourselves be actuated as they were by the desire of serving our country as citizens, and not the idea of just making it a place to live, their influence cannot always be expected to protect us against ourselves.

Our laws are of no avail on our statute books, without real men to enforce them.

And remember that when you are giving your undivided time to your social affairs, and the business of making dollars, that the dollar sign means U. S. What would a dollar be worth without the wealth of the United States behind it? What would the wealth of the United States be worth without our laws to protect it? And finally, what would our laws be worth without men to enforce them? And the quality of those men depends upon each one of us individually.

The Mirth King held court at the Elks home Tuesday night, the occasion of his excessive good humor being a poverty party—"Dam poor!" the invitations said. It was April Fool's "nite," and the hundred or so guests entered into the spirit of the affair with full zest. No descriptions of the costume could be half as funny as the costumes looked and nobody could judge when it came to designating the prize winners. Among the women Mrs. C. W. Proctor was conceded to have the funniest costume, and she was presented with a valuable diamond ring—purchased at Woolworth's. Mrs. Ray Eaton won second prize, a pair of ladies' hose, with Roman effect. A string of beads was the trophy awarded to Mrs. Charles H. Berry, 2d, who won third prize. The lucky men who won prizes were Clifford O. Perry, a harmonica; Ray Eaton, a rabbit; and C. W. Proctor, a beautiful pair of garters. Mrs. A. H. Jones, Henry A. Howard and L. W. Benner acted as judges. The grand march, consisting of about 30 couples was led by Exalted Ruler and Mrs. W. H. Sanborn. With Greeley's Orchestra dispensing music generously, the dancing continued from 8.30 to 12. Noisy favors—rattles, clappers, horns, etc.—were distributed at intermission, together with free chewing gum and cigarettes. Hot dogs and coffee were served for the benefit of those whose strenuous appetite was not to be appeased by chewing and smoking. The success of the party was in a very large measure due to Mrs. C. W. Proctor, who served as chairman.

ALPERIN-MARTIN
The marriage of Minerva Fay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Martin of 271 Bradford street, to Henry Alperin, son of S. L. Alperin of Rockland, Maine, took place March 11, in the gathering of Israel Synagogue, Linden street, Pittsfield, Mass. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Maurice Furman, who carried out the ancient Hebrew traditions along modern day ideas in a most impressive manner.

Charles S. Alperin, brother of the groom was best man and headed the bridal procession, followed by the groom on the arm of his father, S. L. Alperin, and sister, Mrs. J. E. Goff of Worcester. Miss Anna Martin, sister of the bride, was next in line as maid of honor, after whom came the little flower girl, Helen Simonson of Brooklyn. The ushers and bridesmaids formed an arch through which the bride on the arms of her father and mother passed to their places under the canopy. The ceremony completed, the entire bridal party counter-marched and retired to the new Odd Fellows hall, where a reception was held for the invited guests. May's Singing Orchestra furnished music for the supper and dancing.

The ushers were Messrs. Louis I. Shulinski of Worcester, Edward Segal of New York, Louis Goldstein and Solon Goldstein of Pittsfield and Robert J. Goff of Worcester.

The bridesmaids were Misses Leonora Klein, Ruth Adelson, Estelle Weltman and Sayde Martin of Pittsfield, Dorothy Alperin of Worcester and Gertrude Halperin of Boston. The bride was born in Pittsfield and is a graduate of Pittsfield High School. She is a past president of the Literary Circle and a very popular member of the younger set. Mr. Alperin is a member of the firm of Alperin Brothers, operating a chain of shoe stores throughout Massachusetts, New York and Vermont States, and has made his headquarters in Pittsfield for the past two and a half years. He has made a host of friends during his short sojourn there, taking an active interest in the social, civic and business life of the city. Mr. Alperin spent his earlier years in Rockland, where he was prominently capable as an athlete. His pronounced success in his present line of business is highly gratifying to his Knox County friends, who foresee for him a very prosperous career as a merchant.

The couple are residing at 125 June street, Worcester, surrounded by wedding gifts which tell of the good will entertained by many friends.

The last chance to see the Rockland High girls' basketball team in action comes Saturday afternoon when they meet Morse High in the Arcade at 3 o'clock—adv.

FOUND FIVE INDICTMENTS

Tony Perloup Pleads Guilty To Acid Throwing In Lillian Risteen Case—Other Doings of Busy Term.

Judge Morrill this forenoon received a message from Portland stating that Judge Hanson, who has just undergone a hospital operation, cannot recover.

Clerk of Courts Milton M. Griffin read the usual proclamations. Rev. O. W. Stuart of the Littlefield Memorial Church offered prayer, and the April term of Supreme Court was underway Tuesday sharply on the appointed hour.

Knox is one of the first counties to which Associate Justice John A. Morrill was assigned after his appointment to the Supreme Bench, and coming back to it he always adds new friends to his circle. And there is always a cordial greeting for his stenographer John A. Hayden, now the dean of the court reporting service, and probably the best versed man in the State on Supreme Court affairs.

One of the first attorneys to arrive on the scene was J. H. Montgomery, the popular president of the Knox Bar Association, this year celebrating the completion of a half century of law practice. Many inquiries were made as to the welfare of A. S. Littlefield still in the South; and M. A. Johnson, who recently returned from there. The absence of these two veterans makes a marked difference in the personnel of the court.

E. Stuart Orbelton of Rockport is in his accustomed position as court clerk. I. Newton Morgan of South Thomaston is in charge of the grand jury. W. H. Robinson of Warren is in charge of the first traverse jury and E. H. Ripley of Matineus of the second traverse jury. At the head of this cabinet, of course, is Sheriff Raymond E. Thurston, alert and vigilant as to his duties. The jury list this term includes two women—Georgia M. Snow of South Thomaston, who was drawn on the first jury, and Mary E. Cooper of Rockland, who was drawn on the second jury. The juries complete are:

First Jury—Charles Prescott (foreman), Albertson Andrews, Rockport; William Frank Blake, Camden; Joseph Cushman, Friendship; William Pelt, Thomaston; Leslie J. Hall, Appleton; Herbert Hardy, Hope; Lewis Quinn, Camden; George Shuman, Rockland; Georgia M. Snow, South Thomaston; Fred H. Wyllie, Warren; Alvaro H. Young, Cushing. Second Jury—Alec Simpson, (foreman), Vinahaven; Fred Brown, Vinahaven; Mary B. Cooper, Rockland; Forrest E. Cottrell, Rockland; Alton C. Grover, Thomaston; Harry Kahrmann, Washington; George C. Ladd, Rockland; Leslie C. Lamson, Rockport; Milton L. Prescott, Camden; Frank Vaughn, Rockland; Edwin Watts, St. George; Lewis B. York, North Haven.

There are 39 new entries this term. The list follows: George W. French vs. Antonio Forzone, (Negligence). George B. Small, Libt. vs. Adella P. Small, (Divorce). State in Scire Facias vs. William A. Kennedy and Byron B. Milliken. State in Scire Facias vs. Henrietta Cottrell and John Parker.

Merrimac Chemical Company vs. Libby Glue & Products Co. (Assumpsit on Acc't). A. W. Chesterton Company vs. Libby Glue & Products Co. (Assumpsit on Acc't).

Aletha L. Gamage, Libt. vs. John M. Gamage (Divorce). Fred H. Ward, Libt. vs. Sadie L. Ward (Divorce).

Minnie G. Miles, Libt. vs. Wallace B. Miles (Divorce). Myrtle B. Favreau, Libt. vs. Willis F. Favreau (Divorce). Helen L. Ryan, Libt. vs. James J. Ryan (Divorce). Edward Shaw, Libt. vs. Ella M. Shaw (Divorce).

Ernest N. Rawley, Libt. vs. Effie Rawley (Divorce).

Dalton E. Raynes vs. James E. Teel (Trespass V. E. A.). Inezella L. Skolfield, Libt. vs. Joseph F. Skolfield (Divorce).

Security Trust Company vs. George F. Barbour and Amy Q. Barbour (Assumpsit on Note). Nelson Dowling Coal Co. vs. Libby Glue & Products Co. (Assumpsit on Note).

Deep Sea Fisheries Inc. vs. L. C. Smith and Madeline E. Smith (Assumpsit on Note). Abbie M. Heard, Appellant from decree of Adelbert L. Miles, Judge of Probate.

Benjamin F. Smith, Appellant from decree of Adelbert L. Miles, Judge of Probate. Little A. Eaton, Libt. vs. Arthur Eaton (Divorce).

Fred T. Heal vs. Lillian M. Lincoln (Assumpsit on Acc't). Bay View Garage vs. Robert W. Jameson (Forcible entry and detainer).

The only case Tuesday afternoon was a hearing on contempt of court in connection with the suit of Dalton E. Raynes vs. James A. Teel, a matter which has twice been before the Municipal Court. Mr. Teel, who is a harbor master at Matineus, moved a boat belonging to Raynes, and was forbidden to do so again by a temporary injunction. Not understanding the nature of the order served on him in connection with the injunction, he stuck it in his pocket, went ahead and proceeded as before. It was evident that his disregard for the injunction was not wilful, but the Court held that some punishment, at least, was due for careless treatment of Court orders and imposed a fine of $25. Thompson for plaintiff, Smalley for defendant.

Naturalization papers were granted to only two applicants Wednesday morning, one being Sophocles Theodore Constantine, a native of Greece, now employed as a weaver in Camden, aged 39 years and single; the other Joel Hilding Peterson of Vinahaven, a fisherman aged 41 years, and a native of Sweden.

The negligence case of Arthur W. Mutty vs. Ralph Stahl was defaulted for $450. Smalley and Buzzell Thornton for plaintiff; Emery for defendant.

The case of Harry Carr against Isaac Berlawsky was in order for hearing the first half of Wednesday afternoon. In this suit Mr. Carr claimed damages on account of an action of forcible entry, which, it was asserted, Mr. Berlawsky had commenced against him last May. The hearing progressed only to the taking out of part of plaintiff's evidence, when, after a conference between the attorneys, the jury was informed by Judge Morrill that an adjustment had been arrived at and an entry of "neither party; no future action" terminated the suit. Otis for plaintiff; Payson for defendant.

The court ordered a verdict for the plaintiff, placing damages at one cent, in the case of Bay View Garage vs. Robert W. Jameson. Exceptions filed. Bird for plaintiff, Montgomery for defendant.

The grand jury completed its labors yesterday afternoon, reporting five indictments. Interest centered upon the case of Tony Perloup, who was indicted for assault with a dangerous weapon, and intent to maim and disfigure. Perloup pleaded "guilty" and will receive his sentence later in the term.

The case has attracted a great deal of attention on account of its unusual nature. Perloup, who is 24 years old, and a native of Palermo, Sicily, claims to be a graduate of the East Maine Conference Seminary in Bucksport. His vocation is barbering.

Perloup had paid marked attention to Mrs. Lillian Risteen, who was employed as a waitress in the Oriental Restaurant, but who is said to have indicated that she no longer cared to have the relationship continue. Crazed with jealousy the Italian went to the restaurant Jan. 31, poured nitric acid from a bottle into a drinking glass, and threw the acid into the young woman's face as she was about to emerge from the kitchen into the dining room.

Mrs. Risteen was taken to Silsby Hospital, where for weeks she hovered between life and death. Her condition lately has been reported as considerably improved, but it is said that she will be disfigured for life. Perloup has been in the county jail ever since the affair. He is charged with "assault with a dangerous weapon" for the reason that when he was taken into custody by the police he had a loaded revolver on his person. In an interview with a Courier-Gazette reporter, soon after he was committed, Perloup said that before the acid throwing he had been five days without sleep and was stirred to a very high tension.

Alexander McCormick of Bath, indicted for criminal assault upon a young Rockland girl, pleaded "not guilty" to an indictment charging that offense.

Ralph Stahl of Camden and Neil Kinney and Leon Halstead of Rockland were indicted for operating a motor car while under the influence of intoxicating liquors.

Theodore R. Sweetland, who has been sojourning in Portland for nearly a year and who was under conviction on charge of illegal possession of intoxicating liquor, was brought back to Rockland Wednesday by Deputy Sheriff Condon and committed to jail. In the afternoon his attorneys, Howard and Tirrell, were heard by Judge Morrill on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus. The petition involved several rather technical points of criminal procedure. It set forth, among other matters, that Sweetland was convicted in Rockland Police Court and appealed to the April term, 1923, of Supreme Court. At that term he defaulted his bail and the sentence of the lower court was not affirmed until September. It was claimed by Sweetland's attorneys that it was not proper to affirm the sentence at a return term. It was further claimed that Sweetland had once been in custody and released.

The petition was denied by Judge Morrill in a terse statement, in which he expressed the opinion that Sweetland was in jail and "that was apparently where he belonged." Exceptions to this ruling were noted and the case will be presented to the June Law Court. Meantime, bail having been refused by the presiding justice, Sweetland's attorneys in Turnkey Rokes' hostelry. Another effort will be made to secure his release on bail, pending the action of the Law Court.

A GARAGE CHANGE

J. R. Flye Sells His Business To Payson and Marston—A Busy Life Reviewed.

An important business change took place Tuesday when J. R. Flye sold his garage business at the corner of Main and Water streets to Maynard L. Marston and Edward T. Payson, and leased the building to them for a period of five years.

Mr. Payson has been connected with the establishment the past year, and is a dealer in motor cars. Mr. Marston has been employed as clothing salesman, but of late has also been making a special study of the automobile business. The new concern will continue the name Flye's Garage, and will maintain the high standard of service given by Mr. Flye. The establishment was opened July 1st, 1910, and is well and popularly known to the traveling public.

"What have you in mind?" asked a Courier-Gazette reporter of Mr. Flye. "It's like this," he answered: "I have loafed less than six months in 40 years, and I am planning to take comfort this summer."

And The Courier-Gazette knows nobody who is better entitled to take that philosophical view of life.

Mr. Flye is a native of Brooklyn, Me., but his recollections of that seacoast town are very limited because the family came here when he was only six. Crescent street has been his continuous home since, and the house at 50 residence ever since.

Older residents will recall him as an expressman, first as agent for the International, then with the Boston & Bangor, and finally with the New England Despatch, which was subsequently taken over by what is now the American Railway Express. Mr. Flye remained with the American one year in the capacity of express agent on the Rockland-Portland run, but the work did not appeal to him, and the next 16 years found him on the waterfront as agent at various times of the Vinahaven & Rockland Steamboat Co., Capt. Archibald's Rockland-Portland route, and the Bluehill Steamboat Co. The union labor schedule was not in vogue then and Mr. Flye recalls that in the busy season it was not at all uncommon for him to put in 18 hours a day.

The past 14 years in the garage business have completed a service which seriously enough has dealt with three forms of transportation.
